Narrative

LARKIN, NATE	12/09/2025

On 12/9/2025, at approximately 1331 hours, I, Officer Larkin of the Regional Transportation District Transit Police Department, was on routine patrol at Denver Union Station located at 1701 Wynkoop street in the City of and County of Denver, in the State of Colorado, doing an area check for a male and female party who had a physical disturbance outside of RTD headquarters located at 1660 Blake Street. The parties were described as a black female wearing pajama pants and Ugg boots pushing a baby stroller and a black male with unknown clothing. Denver Union Station is owned by the Regional Transportation District and law enforcement services are provided by the Transit Police Department.

While I was at the end of commuter rail track one, I was advised by a witness that she saw the parties in the dispute walking out towards Wynkoop Street. The witness told officers that she saw the female party hit the male multiple times and that she appeared to be the aggressor in the moment. I observed that the witness was on the phone with 911 when she was speaking to me. Officers in the area went towards Wynkoop street and checked the intersection at 16th street. Officers continued down 16th street and back through the alleyway back to the Commuter Rail Platform. Once back on the commuter rail platform, I observed a black female, later identified as Omyria Scott Brugger (DOB 10/29/2005,) walking at the end of the tracks towards Wewatta street pushing the baby stroller.

Upon initial contact with Omyria, Officer Cambra and I detained her in handcuffs, checking for fit and double locking for comfort. Officers sat Omyria down at the end of track 4 against an RTD ticket vending machine. I did an initial check on the baby in the stroller and noticed that she had the proper clothing and blankets for the weather conditions. I asked Omyria what type of relationship she had with the male party that she was with earlier of which she responded with "a toxic one." Omyria advised me that the male party she was with was the father of her baby and that they spend weekends together.

A routine clearance of Omyria showed that she had warrants that were valid for extradition statewide in Colorado, as well as being the restrained party in a protection order. The protected party was listed as [REDACTED] Due to her warrants, Omyria was placed in the back seat of a marked RTD PD Patrol Vehicle with the door open for Omyria to have view of her baby. While Omyria was in the back seat of the patrol vehicle, she began to hit her head against the cage of the back seat, which lead to a large bump on her head. Officers then contacted Officer Lopez of the Denver Police Department, working off duty and operating as Paul 1 for RTD PD for booking.

Paul 1 requested EMS for the bump on Omyria's, and she was medically cleared on scene.

Omyria advised officers that she would like us to transfer custody of her 9-month-old child to her mother. Omyria's mother, Rochell Brugger, arrived on scene shortly after to take custody of the child. Rochell advised Omyria to comply with police, telling Omyria that she can no longer help with legal issues regarding her history.

Upon confirmation of warrants by the Denver Police Department, I conducted a search incident to arrest of Omyria and she was then transported by Officer Cambra to the Denver Detention Center on her warrants and booked in by the Denver Police Department.

My department issued body worn camera was activated during the contact.

I completed a field interview card via Citizen Contact for this call.

Nothing farther to report.

DURAN, LEON

Date Written
12/09/2025

On 12/09/2025 at approximately 1330 hours, I Officer L. Duran with the Regional Transportation District (RTD) Transit Police Department, was flagged down by pedestrians near Denver Union Station located at 1700 Wewatta St, in the city and County of Denver, State of Colorado, in reference to Domestic Violence. Denver Union Station is owned by RTD, and the law enforcement services are provided by the Transit Police Department.

As I arrived at RTD headquarters, located at 1660 Blake Street, Denver, Colorado, I was flagged down by pedestrians regarding a black female with a stroller and a black male just across the street in a parking lot, fighting.

I parked my marked patrol car and walked across the street to speak with the security guard who was on scene. The security Officer stated he had seen the couple arguing and attempted to break up the altercation, but the couple walked away towards Union Station. I asked the security guard what the couple was wearing. The security guard stated the female was wearing pajama pants with ugh boots, the male was wearing jeans and a hoodie, and they had a baby in a stroller.

I notified dispatch of the incident and called Officer Larkin with the information I was given and the description of the couple. I conducted an area check around Union Station but was unable to locate the couple.

I went back to RTD Headquarters and was later notified that the female party, later identified as Omyria Brugger-Scott (DOB 10/29/2005), matching the description, was found and detained on Track 4 of Union Station.

Upon Arrival at Union Station, I observed Officer Larkin and Officer Cambra with Omyria and her child. Omyria had a CCIC/NCIC clearance conducted with the following information:

1. C5F El Paso Co for FTA/Assault, $5k bond, C5F is DV related 12/8/2025
2. Restrained x1 12/8/2025, Protected party on pro order- [REDACTED]
3. Second C5M Aurora FTA/Dmg Prop, $750 bond, statewide

Due to Omyria having her 9- 9-month-old baby with her, I gave her the option of calling someone she trusts to take her child while she is in Jail. She stated she wanted me to call her mom to take her child. I called her mother who was later identified as Rochell Brugger [REDACTED], who would come get the child.

Omyria was booked into Denver County Jail on her warrants, and her child went with her Omyria's mother.

See Officer Larkin and Officer Cambra's report for more information.

During the entirety of this contact my body worn camera was on and functioning normally. All images in relation to this case have been uploaded for future reference.

End of report.

Supplemental Narrative

Written By CAMBRA, BRIAN	Date Written 12/10/2025
-----------------------------	----------------------------

On 12/8/2025 at approximately 1337 hours, I, Officer B. Cambra, with the Regional Transportation District (RTD) Transit Police Department (RTDPD), was conducting an area check around Union Station located at 1701 Wynkoop Street, City and County of Denver, State of Colorado. The area check was regarding a domestic dispute.

Officer Larkin and I were conducting an area check for two parties that were witnessed to be in a domestic dispute in the area of 17th Street and Blake Street. Dispatch gave the description of one as a black male with unknown clothing, and the other as a black female wearing pajama bottoms with UGs pushing a baby stroller with a baby inside.

During our area check, we were by the South end of Commuter rail track 4 when we noticed a female, later identified as Scott, Omyria DOB (10/29/2005), matching the description of a person involved in the domestic dispute mentioned above. I made contact with Scott and asked to speak to her about an incident that had just happened, and explained to her that she matched the description of someone we were looking for. With no further information on the possible domestic dispute and who the aggressor was, I detained Scott, handcuffing her, checking for fit, and double-locking the handcuffs. I asked her to sit with her baby and stroller just in front of her.

I called Officer Duran, as he was the Original officer to respond to the call, to see if they had any information on the second involved party or the incident that had occurred. The second involved party was never located. Once Officer Duran was on scene, Scott was placed in the back of his patrol vehicle with the stroller and baby in the door opening so Scott could be next to her baby. Once in the back of the secured portion of the patrol car, Scott smashed her forehead into the partition multiple times. I told Scott to stop hitting her head, to which she stopped and said, "Stop talking to me, it's not bothering you." I told her I don't want her to hurt herself. After she hit her forehead on the barrier, a visible bump could be seen on her forehead. EMS was called to the scene to evaluate her before she was able to be taken to the Denver Detention Center.

During this interaction, RTD Dispatch did a CCIC/ NCIC and RMS clearance, which found the following information:

El Paso FTA for Assault, $5000 bond

Aurora FTA for Damage to Property, $750 bond

Scott was also a restrained party in a protection order. The protected party is [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Once we confirmed her identity for the warrants, Scott was asked if she had someone who could get the baby, as she would be going to the Denver Detention Center for the warrants. Scott said her mother could get the baby. Officer Duran worked with Scott to contact her mother.

See Officer Duran's report for further information on contacting the mother and interactions during the call.

See Officer Lakin's report for further information and interactions during the call.

I later transported Scott to the Denver Detention Center (490 W. Colfax Ave) for Officer Lopez of the Denver Police Department, working off duty as a Paul unit for RTD.

My BWC was on during the call.

Nothing further at this time.

DAIKER, CHRISTOPHER	12/11/2025

On December 8th, 2025 at approximately 1330 hours I, Sergeant Chris Daiker with the RTD Transit Police Department was directed to attend an RTD related meeting at 1660 Blake Street, Denver, CO. I accompanied Officer Duran in his marked patrol vehicle to this meeting and was wearing my department issued BWC, badge, and service weapon along with my RTD Police jacket.

Upon arrival, pedestrians flagged down Officer Duran and advised a potential domestic violence incident had recently occurred in an adjacent parking lot. Bystanders advised the involved parties, a male along with a female pushing a stroller, had left the area headed towards Denver Union Station. Officer Duran and I conducted an area check attempting to locate the involved individuals but were unable to locate any one matching the descriptions initially provided.

At the conclusion of our meeting at the Blake Street offices, Officer Duran advised Transit Police Officers had contacted and detained a female party possibly associated with the aforementioned incident at Denver Union Station. I accompanied Officer Duran to Denver Union Station so he could assist Officers Larkin and Cambra. Due to not being in full uniform, I only assisted in providing scene security and speaking with the off duty Denver Officers who responded to assist. This concludes my involvement in this incident.

My department issued BWC was worn and activated while at Denver Union Station during this incident.

Nothing further. End of report.
